Conflict minerals Policy - Supply of Electrical and Electronic Equipment

Conflict Minerals

In August 2012, the United States Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) approved the final rule regarding the sourcing of conflict minerals as defined in the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act, Section 1502. Under this rule, publicly traded companies must report annually to the SEC the presence of "conflict minerals" -3TG: tin, tungsten, tantalum, gold- originating from Central Africa in either the products they manufacture or contract to manufacture, or use in the production process.

Ever Elettronica commitment

As a socially responsible company, Ever Elettronica has concern for the well-being of people and communities. We conduct business fairly and ethically, respect human rights, comply with laws and regulations

Ever Elettronica, although isn't a publicly traded company, files the necessary documentation to this purpose.

Ever Elettronica is using the EICC-GESI Conflict Minerals Reporting Template (<http://www.conflictreesourcing.org/conflict-minerals-reporting-template/>) and other tools required by the customer, to require direct confirmation that any "conflict minerals" in materials we purchase do not support armed groups in the Covered Countries and suppliers must also make a declaration that their full supply chain has been duly examined to confirm this.

Ever Elettronica can confirm that at this time there is no indication that any products it manufactures contain minerals that directly or indirectly can finance or benefit armed groups in the Covered Countries.
